

PRESS RELEASE

Tunis Stock Exchange Renews Its Triple ISO Certification

Tunis Stock Exchange announces the renewal of its ISO 27001 certification for Information Security Management, ISO 20000-1 certification for IT Service Management, and ISO 22301 certification for Business Continuity Management for the period 2026–2029.

This renewal reflects Tunis Stock Exchange's ongoing commitment to operational excellence, risk management, and the continuous improvement of its processes, in line with international best practices.

Maintaining the ISO 27001 certification for the tenth consecutive year represents a significant achievement, demonstrating the maturity of its Information Security Management System (ISMS) and its continued commitment to ensuring the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of information.

The ISO 20000-1 and ISO 22301 certifications further confirm Tunis Stock Exchange's ability to deliver a high level of quality in its IT services and to ensure business continuity in an ever-evolving environment.

As part of its efforts to strengthen its cybersecurity framework, Tunis Stock Exchange has also established its Computer Emergency Response Team (CERT) and joined FIRST (Forum of Incident Response and Security Teams), the leading international network of cybersecurity incident response teams.

Through these achievements, Tunis Stock Exchange reaffirms its commitment to maintaining the highest standards of security, quality, and resilience, thereby contributing to enhanced investor confidence and supporting the development of the Tunisian financial market.
